CONFERRING OF DEGREES

President Jesse Peters

Recessional

Congratulations to the Class of 2024

2024 COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Congresswoman Andrea Salinas

United States House of Representatives

A first-generation student herself, Western is proud to announce its commencement speaker, Congresswoman Andrea Salinas. Salinas, the daughter of a Mexican immigrant, is one of the first Latinas to represent Oregon in Congress. After putting herself through college, Salinas pursued public service as a congressional aide and policy advisor, as well as an advocate for labor unions, environmental groups, and reproductive rights organizations. In 2017, she was appointed to the Oregon House of Representatives and served through the end of her term in 2022. In the Oregon House of Representatives, she served as House Majority Whip and was the Chair of the House Health Care Committee.

Andrea Salinas

In Congress, Salinas is proud to serve on the House Agriculture and House Science, Space, and Technology Committees, where she crafts policies that will help level the playing field for Oregon farmers and rural communities and create more good-paying, union jobs. As Co-Chair of the bipartisan Mental Health Caucus, she has prioritized making mental health care and addiction treatment more accessible and affordable.

“We are honored to welcome Congresswoman Salinas as the keynote speaker for this year’s commencement ceremony,” remarked President Jesse Peters. “As both a first-generation American and a first-generation college student herself, she understands the transformative power of education. Her remarks will undoubtedly inspire our graduates, highlighting the possibilities that lie ahead for them. Western Oregon University is the only four-year public university serving her district. We value her advocacy for higher education and the support she has extended to our university.”

“As a first-generation college student myself, I am so grateful for the opportunity to speak at this year’s commencement ceremony,” said Rep. Salinas. “Growing up, my parents taught me the importance of hard work, perseverance, and community—the very same values that Western instills in each and every one of its students. I know these graduates have the skills they need to succeed, and I look forward to congratulating the Class of 2024 as they take the next big step into the future.”

Out of respect for each other and the solemnity of the occasion, graduates and guests are asked to stay for the entire ceremony.

President Peters and WOU faculty and staff look forward to meeting graduates and their families at a reception in The Grove immediately following the ceremony. In the event of inclement weather, the reception will be moved to the Pacific Room in the Werner University Center.

TRADITIONS OF Academic Regalia

The custom of wearing academic regalia on commencement day has survived more than a thousand years. Dressing in caps, gowns, hoods and tassels for special occasions originated in medieval Europe and is patterned after the formal dress code of clergymen of that time period. This tradition serves as a reminder of the wearer's responsibility in the scholarly world.

On most college campuses, the faculty and seniors appear in academic garb at ceremonies such as commencement and baccalaureate. Since 1895, colleges and universities in the United States have followed a uniform code specifying the type of cap and hood for each degree. The significance of the decorative costumes is determined by the sleeves and hoods.

Holders of doctoral degrees wear round bell sleeves. The gown is faced down the front and barred on the sleeves with black velvet or velvet of a color indicating the degree; the doctoral hood is large. The doctoral cap may include a gold tassel. Faculty participating in a commencement ceremony wear robes in colors of the institutions from which they graduated.

Master's degree holders wear a long, closed sleeve with a slit near the upper arm; the hood is mid-sized. Bachelor's degree holders wear a long, pointed sleeve. Those graduating with honors wear a gold cord around the shoulders. Hoods are lined with colors of the institution granting the degree (or one with which the wearer is associated) and are trimmed with velvet of the color distinctive of their degree.

Golden Wolves

Leading the processional today are representatives from the class of 1974, celebrating its 50th anniversary. Paula Buck '74 and Sherri Olson '74 became friends during college, and have remained friends ever since. Their participation symbolizes the pride we have in our alumni and the esteem in which they are held.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENT AWARD

Outstanding Graduating Senior

Abigail Fisher '24

Abigail Fisher from Tigard, Oregon, is graduating with a Bachelor of Science in Education with a concentration in Early Childhood/Elementary Education and a Bachelor of Science in Interpreting Studies Theory with a concentration in American Sign Language. Taking on two rigorous degrees with no course crossover, she nearly doubled her course load while at Western.

Fisher has been actively involved in the American Sign Language Club and served as the club President from 2022-23. She was also invited by a professor to teach ASL grammar virtually during the COVID-19 pandemic and has been the biannual guest speaker at Southridge High School for all ASL classes.

Abigail Fisher

Last year, Fisher was selected by Western faculty for a paid internship program at the Oregon State Capitol where she had the opportunity to interpret for Senate and House Committee hearings and was hired on as a freelance interpreter after completing the internship. She has also held many leadership positions at Western, including Admissions Ambassador as a designated ASL tour guide, Destination Western Peer Advisor, and tutor.

Fisher is currently completing her student teaching at Kalapuya Elementary School and plans to return to Western this fall to begin a master's degree in education.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENT AWARD

Isabella Morrill '24

Isabella Morrill from Warrenton, Oregon, completed her Bachelor of Arts in Music with a concentration in Music Composition one term early in Winter 2024. As a distinguished musician and composer, she's received honors such as winning the 2022 National Band Association's Merrill/Jones Young Band Composition Contest, where she made history as the first undergraduate composer to win this prestigious award.

Morrill is also a published composer with Murphy Music Press and Keveli Music and has served as a composer-in-residence for various orchestras and symphonies. She's also had compositions selected for masterclasses with Hollywood/Disney film composer Dave Metzger and the Art Abrams Swing Machine Big Band. These accomplishments are rarely attributed to an undergraduate and Morrill is Western's first undergraduate music student to achieve these regional, national, and international accomplishments.

Isabella Morrill

One of her award nominators shared that Morrill's creative output is something that would be expected of a doctoral candidate, yet, she has accomplished all of this as an undergraduate.

Morrill has also served as an academic tutor for the music department in music theory, aural skills, and digital music notation.

When not focused on her work on campus, she has actively served her community through her leadership as a church musician and has sought out many growth opportunities during her time at Western.

Formerly known as the Delmer Dewey/Julia McCulloch Smith Award—presented each year to outstanding graduating students—is named for former Dean of Men Delmer Dewey, who died in 1953, and in memory of Julia McCulloch Smith, who died in 1930. The awards were first presented in 1954.

GRADUATE STUDENT AWARD

Outstanding Graduate Student Award

Emily Sielen '24

Emily Sielen, who resides in Bellingham, Washington, is the 2024 Outstanding Graduate Student Award recipient. She is graduating with a Master of Arts in Interpreting Studies.

With 15 years of experience as a professional Spanish-English healthcare interpreter, Sielen recognized the need for improvement in how interpreters are trained and supported within the field. Western's graduate program in interpreting studies, which emphasizes reflective practice through observation, application, analysis, and supervision, was exactly what she was seeking.

Sielen has served as a graduate assistant for the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at Western. Additionally, she has presented her research on the landscape of interpreter training in Washington State and its impact on ethical decision-making at the International Federation of Translators North America conference.

Emily Sielen

During her time in the program, she was invited to become an adjunct instructor for the Spanish Medical Interpreting Program at Columbia Basin College in Pasco, Washington. She also co-founded an LLC with other local interpreting professionals called the Interpreter Development & Education Association, which provides direct training and continuing educational opportunities for interpreters, with a special emphasis on training opportunities for speakers of indigenous languages of Mexico and Central America.

Her career goal is to continue to expand the quality and quantity of training for healthcare interpreters both before and after they join the ranks of the profession, thus improving language access and health outcomes for all those who rely on interpreters for access to essential community services.

The Outstanding Graduate Student Award honors a student who has demonstrated superior achievements in scholarship and academics, character, leadership and initiative during graduate studies.

Golden Lamp Award

Ana Clark '24

Ana Clark, from Clavillo, Aguascalientes, Mexico is the 2024 OHSU Golden Lamp Award recipient. She chose to attend the Oregon Health & Science University School of Nursing due to its mission and vision, appreciating the commitment to inclusion and the creation of opportunities for underrepresented populations.

Clark has worked as a medical assistant for six years and knew she wanted to do more, with the next step becoming a nurse. In addition to studying nursing and working, she is a mother of four children. Balancing all the different responsibilities was not easy and the faculty and staff at the OHSU Monmouth nursing program have supported her every step of the way.

Clark shares that trying to balance it all on top of having a personal life was difficult, but she really enjoyed it, which made it easy. She expresses her gratitude to the faculty and staff who were always there for her, from providing feedback to answering any questions she had.

Ana Clark

Clark is thrilled about becoming a nurse because it allows her to engage her mind, use her body, and continue learning. But her ambitions don't stop there. She has been accepted into the Doctor of Nursing Practice cohort at the OHSU School of Nursing and will receive a full-ride scholarship.

During her time at OHSU, Clark held numerous leadership roles. She is a member of the Sigma Theta Tau International Honor Society of Nursing, co-chaired the Latin Nursing Student Alliance, served on the Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Committee, acted as a student representative for the OHSU Monmouth Nursing Curriculum Committee, and mentored fellow students in the nursing program.

The Golden Lamp Award is based on the American Nurses Association Code for Professional Nurses and the Florence Nightingale Pledge. It is given in recognition of exemplary demonstration of scholarship, leadership, professional commitment, innovative contributions and humanitarian ideals.

The Oregon Health & Science University School of Nursing – Monmouth Campus opened in fall 2008. Innovation, excellence, diversity and collaboration were readily adopted as defining characteristics for the Monmouth campus.

Active teaching and learning experiences quickly integrated students, faculty and staff into the community. A strong faculty team and exceptional students are assuming their role as leaders in an era of change for health care and nursing education.
