

AFSC Call for Participation
For Faculty Senate, 10 July 2018

- The Assessment Facilitation Steering Committee has a call for new members. There are three open seats on the Assessment Facilitation Steering Committee in the 2018-19 Academic Year. The Assessment Facilitation Steering Committee (AFSC) is a university standing committee that is led by faculty and charged with advising the Provost on matters related to university assessment processes related to student learning outcomes for general education (GELOs), undergraduate (ULO) and graduate degree programs, and minor and certificate programs. Typically the AFSC meets monthly during the regular academic terms.
- Assessment Kickoff and Planning meeting to be held on Friday, September 21 from 9:30am-2:30 pm during the Faculty welcome week. See 12 June 2018 email from Dr. Baumgartner.
- Potential AFSC members are reviewed for recommendation to the Provost by the faculty senate executive committee.
